Mark your calendars! April 23: Taste of Indian Spring

Annual Taste of Indian Spring Set for Thursday, April 23

by Ann Horton

The date for the annual Taste of Indian Spring has been set for Thursday, April 23, 2015, starting at 6:30 p.m. Once again, we are pleased to hold the event at Highland View Elementary School, located at 9010 Providence Avenue, Silver Spring. We can promise a great evening, with lots of fun food to sample from many local restaurants and the opportunity to visit with our neighbors and meet new ones.

We have just started to recruit restaurants and will let you know later via the listserv which restaurants will be participating. Our goal is to have at least 8-12 restaurants (similar to the numbers participating in previous years), with a variety of different types. If you have any connections at our local restaurants or other questions, please contact Tony Hausner (thausner@gmail.com).

We are striving to make this event as green as possible, so please try to bring your own cups, plates, utensils and a re-usable water bottle to the event. For those of you who don't, we will have a limited supply of eco-friendly supplies to make your experience fun and guilt free!

Taste of Indian Spring and ISCA Membership

by Elizabeth Magin

The Indian Spring Citizens Association's Annual Taste of Indian Spring will be here before we know it. It is tentatively scheduled for Thursday, April 23 at Highland View Elementary School at 6:30 p.m. (see related article in this newsletter), but you need to be a member of ISCA to enjoy that wonderful event.

There are approximately 800 homes within Indian Spring; all receive this newsletter. Several years ago, ISCA had nearly 180 dues-paying members. We currently have barely more than 100. For $15.00 a year ($16 if you use PayPal), you receive the benefit of the newsletter, Fall Fest, the Taste of Indian Spring, and more ways to enjoy our neighborhood.

The following is a list of paid-up members. If your dues are not current, you can pay at the Taste of Indian Spring, but it's easier and faster to make your dues payment before then, to avoid a line. Use the coupon on page 1, or make your payment online via PayPal at iscaonline.com. If you still have a question regarding your membership status after looking through the list below, contact Monica Bridgewater

Taste of Indian Spring

As is our community tradition, all attendees are encouraged to bring a dish to share. We recommend that last names beginning with A-I bring salads, J-N bring side dishes, and O-Z provide desserts, but feel free to switch categories if you have a favorite family recipe you would like to share.

We will be on the lookout for help to ensure the success of the event. Keep your eyes peeled in late March on the neighborhood listserv for a Taste of Indian Spring Sign-up Genius to get involved as a volunteer in one of the following areas (and please feel free to participate in several areas or for multiple shifts!):

- Restaurant Pick-Up: Go to specified restaurants to pick up the food on the afternoon of the event.
- Set-Up: Help arrange tables, put out supplies, etc.
- Food Service: Help serve all the delicious food to keep the line moving.
- Clean Up: Help leave the school as we found it.

Please email a planning committee member (see above) if you have ideas about making the event eco-friendly, restaurant suggestions, or an offer to help. With generous and early help from volunteers, we can make this event truly wonderful! Please mark your calendars and we look forward to seeing you there. ☞

We welcome information on new residents and other special occasions.

Elli Malta Paleologos, April 9, 1927 to March 2, 2015, was an ISCA resident since 1995 when she married Peter Paleologos. Elli and Peter dated for over 50 years before marrying. Elli was a successful nurse and microbiologist at FDA on the NIH campus. Elli was born in Connecticut to Greek immigrants. Despite her modest early beginnings, she amassed a small fortune through investments in the stock market. Rather than improve her lifestyle, she took her wealth and created five academic scholarships, three undergraduate and two graduate – Peter and Elli Paleologos Scholarship Fund, Paleologos Graduate Scholarship, Katina Malta Scholarship, Elli Malta Scholarship, Paleologos Undergraduate Scholarship. Elli taught Sunday School for over 50 years at Sts. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church and was in the church choir. In keeping with Elli's generosity, her entire estate is left to the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America. Elli is survived by a niece in Boston MA and a cousin in Port St. Lucie, FL.

Highland View ES: Indian Spring Parents Play Major Role

by Lauren Burkett

(Editor's note: The ISCA newsletter plans to profile other public schools serving the neighborhood during the next several issues. Next: Silver Spring International Middle School.)

Highland View Elementary School has caught the eye of many parents of the Indian Spring neighborhood. Its close-knit community, the work ethic of teachers and convenience are all contributing factors to the school's popularity.

With about 420 students in kindergarten through 5th grade, many are residents of Indian Spring, the children of proactive parents who are contributing to the school's success.

Ann Horton, who lives on Indian Spring Drive, is vice president of Highland View's Parent Teacher Association. Horton believes we should feel very fortunate to have such a top-notch school in our neighborhood. Horton has a 3rd grader at the school, as well as a 12-year-old alumnus. Plus, she's an alumna of HVES herself.

Horton says the current principal, Anne Dardarian, and vice principal, Jaclynn Fowle, are creating an incredibly diverse and unifying community at Highland View Elementary School, which is located on Providence Avenue, a short walking distance for Indian Spring children.

Previously, Horton was president of the PTA and carnival co-chair. She reports the school "has a dedicated group of volunteers who put on a wide range of activities throughout the year," such as carnivals, heart healthy dances and free holiday bazaars.

Highland View is a friendly environment where all students have the opportunity to be engaged in their community, according to parents.

Another parent booster of Highland View is Tracey Crooks, a resident of Seven Oaks on the opposite side of Franklin Avenue. She says the teachers, the principal and the involved parent community all collaborate to form the best possible learning environment for their elementary schoolers. Crooks has a kindergarten and a 2nd grader, and she's a PTA member.

(Author of the article, Lauren Burkett, a resident of Indian Spring since 2009, is a senior at Northwood High School.)

Crooks is responsible for producing a monthly activities flyer that is distributed to all parents or guardians. Crooks also serves as a classroom parent in both of her kids' classes and is room parent coordinator for the school. Crooks coordinates volunteers for spring carnivals and works with Horton on final preparations for the big annual event.

When Crooks was asked in an e-mail interview what the school does to contribute to students' success, she responded, "The school is great about recognizing kids for everyday actions that demonstrate good citizenship."

One incentive the school did to value students' hard work is giving them eagle prizes, with the eagle being the school's visible mascot, for performing gestures of courtesy like helping class-mates with their artwork. Even the school's slogan "Soaring to New Heights" encourages students to explore their surroundings outside of the classroom to better recognize the world around them.

Crooks believes Highland View has a significant impact on her children. "The school is a very warm, welcoming environment with a strong sense of community. My kids love their school, and I know they'll always have fond memories of their years at Highland View," she said.

If you get a chance to see any of the committed parents of Highland View, please thank them for their volunteer contributions to our neighborhood elementary school and the next generation. ☞

Indian Spring Garden Club

by Don Franck

You may have seen e-mails from me on the ISCA listserv announcing Indian Spring Garden Club meetings and wondered what the ISGC is. Well, it's a very loosely knit group of people who have an interest in home gardening.

We have less organization than an amoeba - no dues, no elected officers. Essentially, we are a mailing list of about 40 individuals and a considerably smaller group of semi-regular attendees who meet at each others' homes about once a month to exchange gardening know-how. Generally, we live in Indian Spring and nearby neighborhoods.

For the past five years, Jennifer Whalen has been the moving force. Thank you, Jennifer. Now Phoebe Luckyn-Malone is taking the lead. I've been posting our emails.

What all of us share is a love of gardening, but our interests and experiences vary widely. We have a master gardener or two, but also people who've never gardened before. As for me, I'm a very amateur gardener—an aging war baby (WWII) who still likes to play in the dirt. If you enjoy meeting your neighbors and swapping gardening stories—both successes and failures—we'd love for you to join us.

Here is a list of upcoming meetings and topics:

If you would like to join us at any of these events or be added to our e-mail list, contact me at donald.franck@verizon.net. ☞

What Betty's clients are saying after she sold their home.

Betty helped with every detail of the sales process, from conception through closing. She was always responsive to our concerns, and provided clear guidance that we felt helped us make good decisions throughout. She was ready with the knowledge and resources to handle every problem. There's just nothing negative to say. She was a responsive and dedicated advocate, and someone that we came to trust implicitly. We cannot recommend her highly enough.

Another Award winning year.

Many thanks to my amazing clients! Betty has earned Coldwell Banker's International President's Circle Award again this year for outstanding sales performance. She was also awarded the "Best of Trulia Badge," an award based on 2014 sales, client reviews and is one of the top 1% of Trulia agents.
